TRI CARE for LIFE

Col John E. Harms-USMC (ret), PAC Committee

I just received this information from Health Net Federal Services, TRICARE FOR LIFE (TFL) Administrator. This has to do with your military ID card only! As you know you MUST have a valid military ID card (sponsor and/or spouse, widow) to receive TFL benefits. This is that mature senior citizen group at or over 65 years old that have both Medicare A and B and are retired military and/or a spouse (widow) of a retired military person. It appears that within the United States there are many people who are in the Defense Enrollment Eligibility System (DEERS), but do not have a current military ID card in their possession. The Department of Defense (DOD) has issued a deadline date of 1 September 2002 for all retired military personnel and/or their spouses to update their DEERS information and get a valid military ID card. After this date any persons who are not shown in DEERS as TFL eligible (did not get a updated/new ID card) will not have their medical expenses or senior pharmacy expenses paid for by TFL. A person without an updated/valid ID card will have pay for all expenses not covered by Medicare. BOTTOM LINE: GET YOUR MILITARY ID CARD UPDATED/CURRENT NOW if you have not already done so. Look at the reverse or backside of your ID card, and the expiration date will tell you if your card is current or not. Go to any military pass office (i.e. Kaneohe Marine Base, Naval Base Pearl Harbor, Hickam Air Force Base) and you can get your DEERS information updated and a new card.

After all our articles on this subject doubt if many have outdated military ID cards at this point. BUT, what about our brother's and sister's in Care Homes or other Care Facilities. Many have dementia and may be legally authorized to receive TFL benefits if retired military, spouse or widow as cited above. If they do not have an Advocate or family member that knows about DEERS and updating of military ID cards, that person, their estate, or family will incur all medical costs not covered by Medicare. Again Medicare does not cover long-term care, but DOES cover the visit to the doctor to receive continuous medical evaluations, changes in medicine etc. It is doubtful that any DEERS qualified persons with advanced dementia will be able to go to a military pass office, so please call me at 261-2282 and I will work with the Marines at K-Bay to have a Marine go to the Care Facility for a DEERS update/issue new ID card. Remember though the advocate or family member that has legal power of attorney for that person with dementia must be present to sign the appropriate forms etc.. Suggest they also bring a copy of the persons DD-214 with them for review by the ID card issuing official.

There have been some questions relative to the "Catastrophic Cap" that is used by TriCare for some of its medical benefit programs. For those persons on TRICARE FOR LIFE (TFL) the Catastrophic Cap does not come into operation for they have Medicare A and B as their primary medical insurance, and TFL as their (primary or secondary) supplemental insurance. The Catastrophic Cap may come into play if a person(s) on TFL receives medical care outside the United States, where Medicare medical insurance does not cover these services. The Cap still is in place for other TriCare benefits programs such as TriCare Standard and TriCare Plus. See page 6 for more information on TriCare Plus.

PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

I am writing this message from the mainland. I'm attending a Submarine Veterans Board of Directors meeting and annual convention. You may get to see our banquet speaker on national TV so look for faces you recognize shortly after 9/11.

I hope you attended the PICNIC and had a great time. That is always the least formal of our events but is always well run by a fine team of volunteers.

Our September event is one you should not fail to attend. The food at the Bowfin Submarine Museum is always good and our speaker is a real expert in his field. Dan Martinez is a career officer in the Park Service and a well known historian. Dan is an expert on the USS ARIZONA (BB39) and one of the few people who has been inside the hull since Dec 7th, 1941. As part of the frequent surveys conducted to inspect the deterioration of the hull, government divers inspect all the accessible spaces. Want to know how long it will take for the oil to all leak out? When the hull will crumble to rusty dust? Or anything else, ask Dan since he will know. His historical expertise is wide ranging and I am not sure what subject he has chosen. But I know you will enjoy it, and he can field any question you may have about our National Parks and Monuments.

I will be back in time for the Judith Breitwieser show, also known as Oktoberfest. I hope to see you there. The food, music, drinks, and festive spirit at the event always make it worth attending.

I suspect the ballots for your vote for or against the proposed name change for our organization will have arrived when you read this issue of the Pau Hana Koa. I have seen an estimate that the cost of the name change is approx $1 million! I told you last month that I think the name change is a bad idea. It is a worse acronym and will likely have no impact on active duty recruiting, which seems to be the basis for change. I'm voting NO, I'll keep our name TROA.

Long—Term Care Insurance by Col John E. Harms, USMC (ret)

First a couple of personal observations; it seems that we are extending a person's life span, but not their quality of life. Therefore there is an increased probability that many people will need long-term care benefits in some form in the future. Remember Medicare DOES NOT cover long-term care requirements, possibly 60 days or "rehabilitation" in a certified facility, before a person goes under the long-term care umbrella. Long-term care insurance is very personalized and can be confusing as to benefits and eligibility for benefits. It is recommended that a person select a program that has at least six daily living activities identified and that benefits would start when at least two of these activities would require assistance for a period of 90 days or more. Some policies only have five daily living activities identified. These six activities are normally: bathing, dressing, toileting, continence, transferring, and/ or eating. So if a person needs assistance for any two of these activities for 90 days or more the Long-Term Care insurance coverage would commence. Or, if a person(s) needs help because they are cognitively impaired, which means a deterioration or loss of intellectual capability. No "senior moments" do not count in this area. The second element for benefit eligibility is who can certify that any of the needs cited above are present/ evident. In selecting Long- Term Care coverage a policy that accepts ANY State licensed medical doctor (to include a psychiatrist) is preferable than if a person must be determined for benefits from the insurance company selected doctor.

Costs for this type of insurance is directly related to the age of the person being insured, a "no brainer" for this observation/ fact. For some reason when we are younger (that appears to be a sliding age scale the older we get) we perceive that this type of insurance coverage is not really needed. "My family all die young so why put money in this insurance coverage". Just to put things in a financial focus, today or NOW it can range from $4,500 to $5,500 a month per person residing in an Assisted Care Facility. For residing in a full Care Center (old term -nursing home) increase this to $5,500 to $6,600 a month per person. It is estimated that with the continued spiraling medical costs in the United States, that services in a full Care Center could be as high as $10,000 per month per person within a decade. I have then heard people state well State Medicaid will take care of these costs. This is true to a degree. To get Medicaid to pay for Long- Term Care the person receiving the care can have no more than $2,000 in assets and earn no more than $1,500 per month in retirement compensation. ALL retirement compensation will go to the State Medicaid provider; except I believe $35.00 a month, to offset the Medicaid costs. The surviving spouse can have $84,000 in assets. If you have assets in excess of the above amounts, these are sold/liquidated first to cover Long- Term care costs until the above limits are achieved. Since Medicaid is a State operation there are some variances between states on how they administer Medicaid. Another issue is you cannot normally select the health care facility that you desire a loved one to receive Long-Term health care. Since Medicaid does not normally cover the prevailing Long- Term health care costs, many facilities will limit the number of Medicaid openings they have at their facility .This is not to be a "scare tactic", just to clarify perceptions that the government (State or Federal) will take care of a person's Long- Term health care needs. As you have seen in articles in the National TROA magazine, "shop around for long-term care insurance" for this is a very personal requirement that many times has to be tailored to an individual and/ or their family. The new Federal Long-Term Care (LTC) Insurance Program open application season runs from 1 July to 31 December 2002. Only two and five year options are now available, with an unlimited option being published in October 2002. I do not have the federal rate calculator on hand, but "Marine Times" recently had an excellent article on LTC by Colonel Mike Lazorchak, USAF (ret.) that goes into the selection process and related costs. You can e-mail your specific questions relative to your particular needs at retiredmilitary@atpco.com. One item on the Federal versus other LTC coverage is that the Federal program does not give a spousal discount if both spouses enroll in this program. Most civilian LTC policies provide up to 50% discount for the spouse when both enroll in the program at the same time.

Congress in Recess.

All congressmen are in their home states for the summer. Who wouldn't be out of Washington with 94* and 95% humidity. Even our congressmen are smart enough to leave! There is not much to report except to give status on the bills affecting the military retired community which will be taken up in conference committee, or voted on separately, when Congress resumes on September 3.

Concurrent Receipt

The House has included "authority" in the 2002 Defense Authorization Bill to phase in 60% or higher rated retirees by 2007. The Senate included "authority" for full and immediate elimination of the retired pay offset for all disabled retirees with at least 20 years service. Neither chamber has voted the money to do it. DOD and OMB are both opposing it as it will be a budget buster. In my opinion, the most that will come out of conference committee will be the House version, and that may well be scaled back. The most compelling argument for Concurrent Receipt is equity. Any disabled veteran retiring from any other US Government agency except DOD does not have his/her pay offset.

Survivor Benefit Program

The House and Senate bills to increase the annuity at age 62 to 55% did not become part of the 2002 Defense Authorization bills now waiting conference committee action. Rep. Mink and Senator Inouye are co-sponsors of these bills, but Rep. Abercrombie and Senator Akaka are NOT. In my opinion these bills have only been given "lip service" by TROA and other veteran's organizations in Washington. The August 2002 issue of the Retired Officer magazine had not a single word on these bills! To correct this inequity and reestablish the original promised annuity, a grass roots effort to make known where participants stand on this issue must be directed at both our congressional delegation and the Washington lobby groups. Start today by logging on to www.troa.org and click on "Legislative Interest Survey" or call 1-800-245-8762 and let TROA know your priorities.

Medicare Physician Payment Fairness Act

This House bill provides for a fair physician fee schedule. This is important legislation because an increasing number of doctors will not accept new Medicare or Tricare patients. Reimbursements to doctors were cut 5.4% in 2002 and are insufficient to cover office costs. Reimbursements will be even less under the current formula. Both Hawaii representatives are among the 355 co-sponsors.

BRIDGE CORNER by robbie gee

The 20 July meeting of the Hawaii Chapter, TROA Bridge group was hosted by Ken and Lillian Patterson in Hawaii Kai at the home of Bob and Robbie Gee.

Taking top honors was Les Ihara, again, in his consistently winning style. Rounding off the winners were Wally Barker in second, and Shirley Ihara in third. As always, the Booby Prize winner shall remain nameless. Others who enjoyed the evening were: Bill and Debby Martin, Robbie Gee, Ray deHay, Marian Davis, John and Joan Peters, Craig and Gigette Caldwell, and guest Polly Khalifi. One member was absent.

Remember to call Robbie Gee at 255-4558 not later than the weekend beforehand to reserve your seat at the bridge table. The group usually meets on the last Saturday of the month at 7pm at various locations around the island on a rotation basis. Watch your Pau Hana Koa each month for the dates.

BRANCH MEDICAL CLINIC, BARBERS POINT CLOSES by ENS Ann-Marie Noad, MSC, USNR

After 26 years of healthcare service, Branch Medical Clinic (BMC), Barbers Point will close its doors effective 1 October, 2002 and transition all available services to BMC Makalapa

When the clinic was established on 23 March 1976, it supported over 17,000 patients and conducted in excess of 8,500 patient visits per month. In 1993, Barbers Point Naval Air Station was included as one of 28 naval bases for closure under the Base Realignment and Closure Act. Although Barbers Point formally closed in 1999, we kept the clinic open to support the significant number of patients that remained in the local area. Over the years, the continuing closure of many additional facilities brought a steady decline in the number of patients requiring care at the clinic.

It has been our pleasure to serve the Barbers Point Ohana and I hope that you will choose to continue receiving your care at BMC Makalapa. Many of our prior Barbers Point patients who now receive care at BMC Makalapa have found that Makalapa is a patient friendly facility; equal to the care they were accustomed to at BMC Barbers Point. At Naval Medical Clinic, Pearl Harbor it is our mission to promote, protect and restore the health of all of those entrusted to our care. Transitioning your care to BMC Makalapa will ensure the efficient use of resources to provide meticulous care for you and your family members.

As always, selecting a provider is your privilege and right, please contact Ms. Donna Gatewood, our Health Benefit Advisor at 473-1510 x320 between the hours of 0730-1600 weekdays; her office is located at BMC Makalapa in the TRICARE office. Ms. Gatewood can answer your questions and provide the necessary documents to ensure a smooth transition of care. Please be assured that the entire Naval Medical Clinic staff, from the CO on down, will continue to make your healthcare needs our #1 priority at the Makalapa Clinic.

Handicap Placards.

Most holders of handicap placards know that they must display the placard on the rear view mirror of their car when they are parked in a handicap stall. On the other hand, there are many of you that think the handicap placard goes with the car whether you are in it or not and this is where violations occur. When you receive your placard you sign a statement that the permit is nontransferable (cannot be used by anyone other than myself as the permittee). This means that if your placard is hanging from the rear view mirror of a car parked in a handicap stall, you have to have be the driver or be a passenger of that car. Additionally, as a part of the aforementioned statement you agree to show your identification to any law enforcement officer upon request. The little blue or white card that you get with your placard that shows you as the holder of the placard and your placard number. Just like you are queried by a police officer when you are asked to show your registration and driver's license. A simple rule to remember-placard and proper ID -don't leave home without them.

In summary, the placard is for your use only and be ready at all times to present the ID associated with the placard to any law enforcement officer upon request.

THE USERS GROUP (TUG) COLONEL LOU TORRACA, USAF (ret)

There is a neat page that the folks who do Microsoft Office have put together. No matter if you only use Word, there is something for you at: <http://office.microsoft.com/assistance>

I read a really interesting article by the Crabby Office Lady, no joke, that's her "handle" as you will soon see. Anyhow, I liked it so much that I sent her an e-mail and asked if I could use it for our newsletter. She responded with an immediate "OK" So, what I've done is use her list of the 10 top e-mail crabs to get you interested enough to go to the page and read the whole article.

Stand Up Straight and Learn Your E-mail Manners By the Crabby Office Lady

I get truckloads of letters imploring me to address the universal lack of e-mail etiquette. From that infernal "Reply to All" button in Microsoft Outlook® 2002 to server-choking graphic files, let's take a look at some of the top cyber-discourtesies that are driving us all nuts. How many e-mails do you send and receive each day? 10? 20? 50? More? (I'm in the "More" category — about four times more. Wonder why I don't write you back?) Frankly, I've got a bee in my bonnet about the way some people are abusing their e-mail privileges. And from the sound of your letters, I'm not alone. Let's tackle some of the bigger issues and see if we can't make this a kinder, gentler cyberworld.

Crabby's top 10 e-mail crabs

I'm going to run through this list quickly, so please try and keep up. In fact, why don't you print this list, frame it nicely, and hang it next to your computer.

Crab #1: Discretion is the greater part of replying

Crab #2: Stop yelling at me

Crab #3: Save the stationery for snail mail

Crab #4: This is not a chain letter

Crab #5: Too many forwards is one step backward

Crab #6: Don't be a cyber-coward

Crab #7: I love you but not your 500 KB image file

Crab #8: The subject "Re: " means nothing to me

Crab #9: Plain text and HTML are not buddies

Crab #10: Itchy trigger finger? Count to 10 before hitting the Send button

Hopefully this has peaked your interest so that you will read the whole article, it's worth your time, I promise {:-} Finally, a couple of neat tips: If you "lose your mouse, how can you find it again? Turn on the mouse's Sonar option. When activated, press the CTRL key and a radar-like animation zeros in on the mouse pointer. The steps to make this magic happen vary, depending on the mouse. Generally speaking, this option is found within the Mouse Properties. Open the Control Panel and double-click the Mouse icon. Once there, select the Visibility (or Pointer Options) tab. Check the box that reads, "Show location of pointer when you press the CTRL key." How to erase the previously viewed titles in Windows Media Player...go to www.microsoft.com/windows/windows media/ download and download the Windows Media Power Toys...they have what it takes: the "Most Recently Used Cleaner."

That's it for now. Until next time, happy computing {:-} . Come see us soon at one of our meetings. For details, schedules and driving directions, visit www.the_tug.homestead.com

AIR SUPPORT

LTC LOUIS W. Crompton, Jr., USAF (ret)

The Hickam commander would like to re-establish the Retiree Affairs Office. Recall the previous RAO was run as a one man show by a chapter member until his death. The Hickam RAO has been closed since. Lou Crompton is willing to be the lead on this effort and is looking for a few USAF retirees who are willing to donate a few hours each week to get the office up and running. Once the office is operational we should find additional volunteers in the retiree community and we could back off or continue to operate it as a chapter community service project. There are many retirees and widows in the community who would or could use the base if they were more knowledgeable of activities and benefits available. For example, a widow is denied TFL service because her ID card or DEERS is outdated; where / how does she get a card? Some people will call the base with a question and be directed to the RAO. The office may receive walk in visitors with a retiree problem or question on benefits / base policy. The office can be an outstanding source of assistance to our fellow retirees and to widows. Opening an RAO at Hickam can be a marvelous opportunity for you and for the chapter to do community service. If you are willing to assist Wing Commander, your chapter, and your fellow retirees, contact Lou now at 526 3022 or LCrompton@juno.com
